The Opposite House

The Opposite House

The opposite house

- Lobby
- Mesh (Bar)
- Suerno (Dining)
- JYT (Dining)
- Pool
- Penthouse

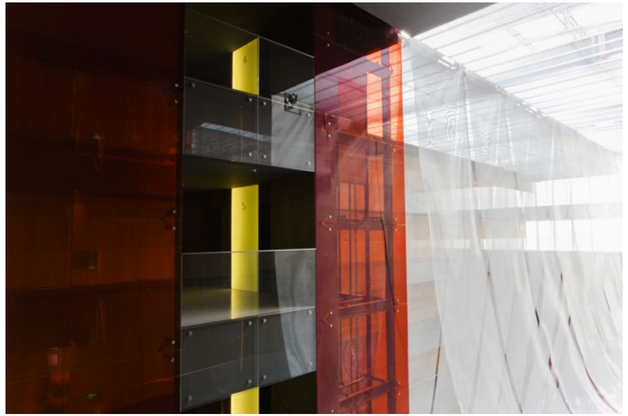
Situated in the heart of Beijing at Taikoo Li Sanlitun, The Opposite House takes its name from the guesthouse, which sits on the opposite side of a traditional courtyard style home. Its contemporary design created by Japanese architect Kengo Kuma conveys serenity and quietude. Breathtaking from the outside and equally stunning within, The Opposite House is a journey of privacy and comfort.

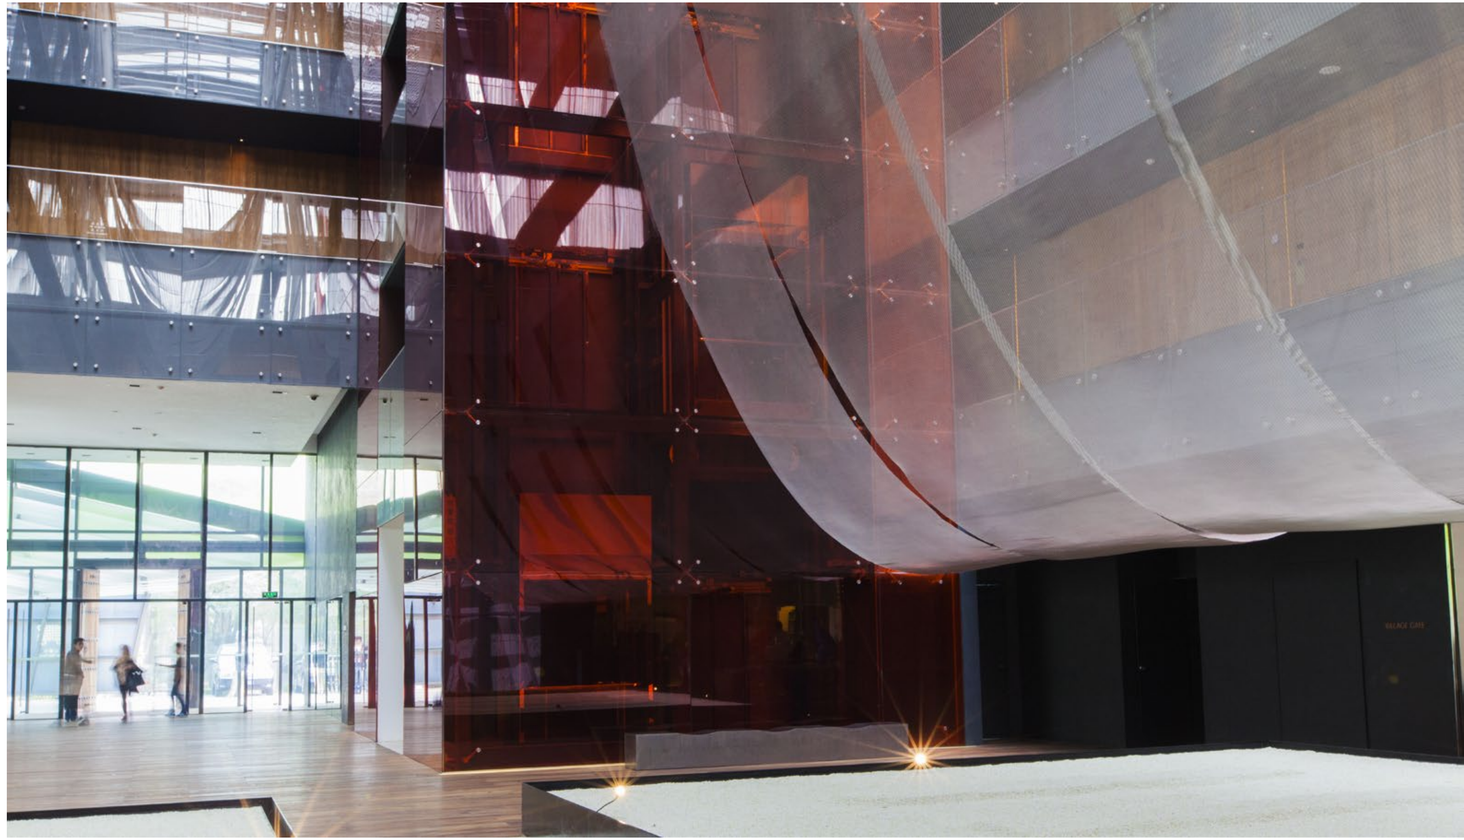
Lobby

The Opposite House greets you with its striking emerald glass exterior. This colour, chosen by eminent Japanese architect, Kengo Kuma, conveys serenity and calmness. Its stunning contemporary design is inspired by traditional Chinese wood lattice and reflects the vibrant street life surrounding the hotel.

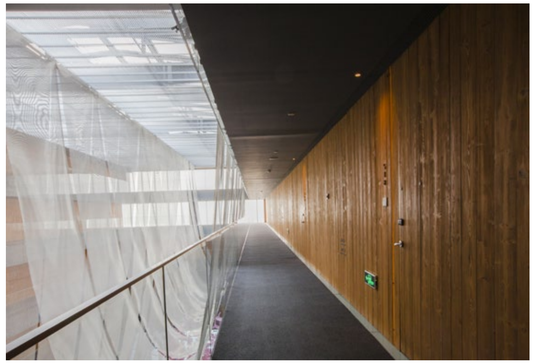
Check in/out Area

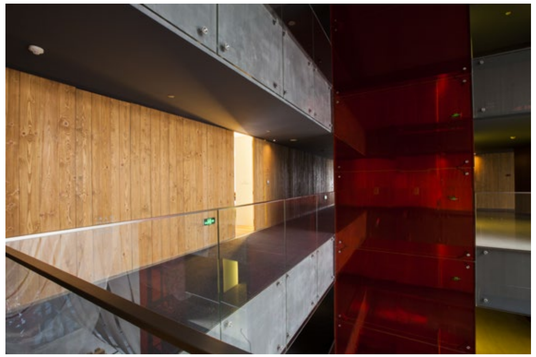
Detail of Lobby





Light in Lobby

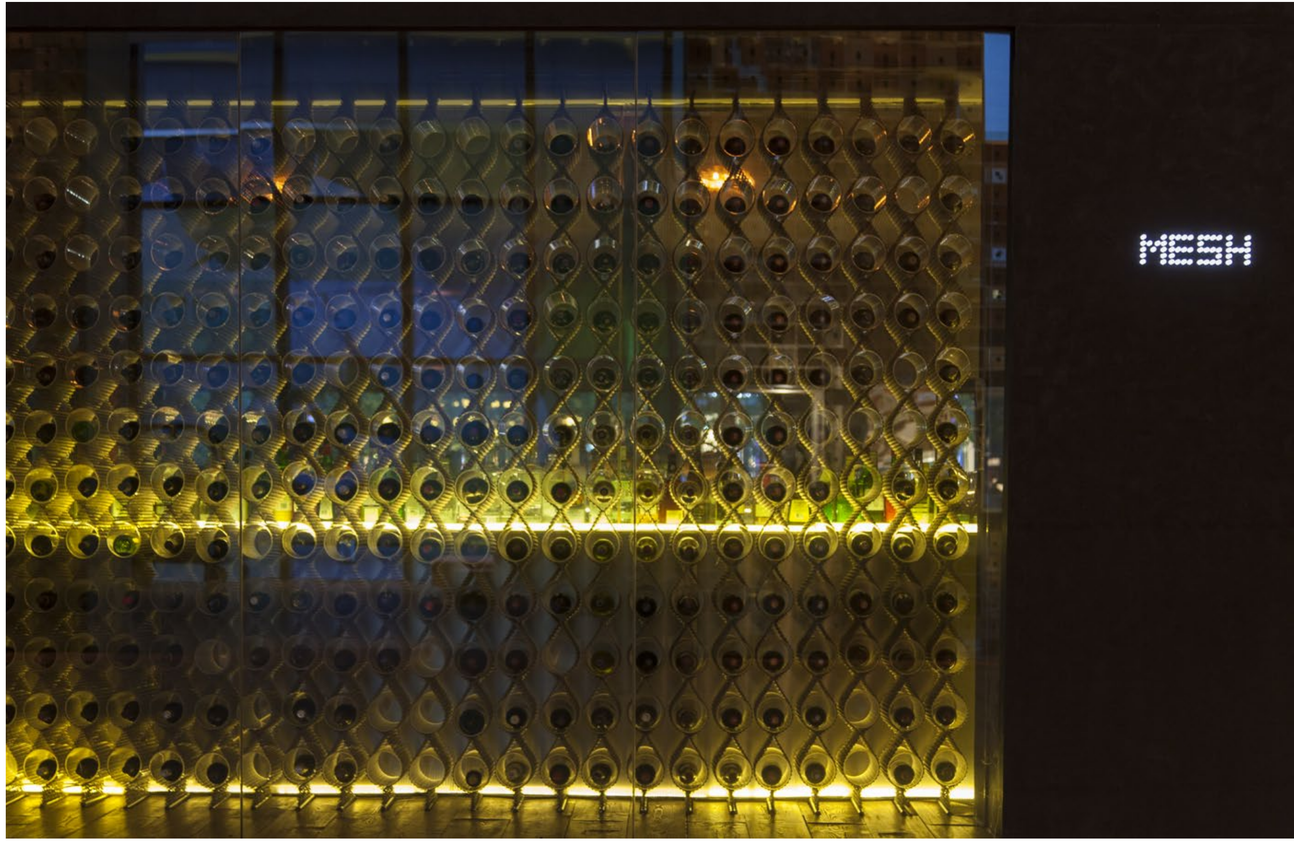




Hallway Space

Mesh (Bar)

A city bar with an extensive wine list, highly original cocktails and an eclectic bar menu, Mesh is the place to be. Soak up the atmosphere, recharge after a hard day and simply have some fun while listening to our DJ's selection of chilled music.



Detail of Mesh

Detail of Mesh

Suerno(Mediterranean Dining)

Exterior Space

Interior Space

Interior Details

Interior Details

Interior Details

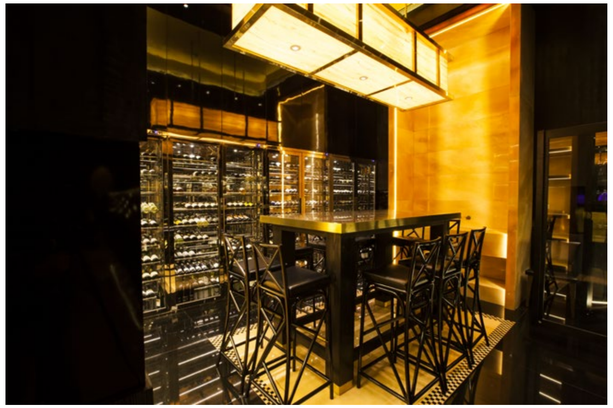
Interior Details (Open Kitchen)

JYT (Chinese Dining)

Designed by internationally-recognised restaurateur Alan Yau, Jing Yaa Tang presents a selection of dishes inspired by the famous Beijing roast duck, as well as a wide range of regional favourites across China. Using the finest ingredients and expertly executed, savour authentic Chinese cuisine at its best.

Interior Details

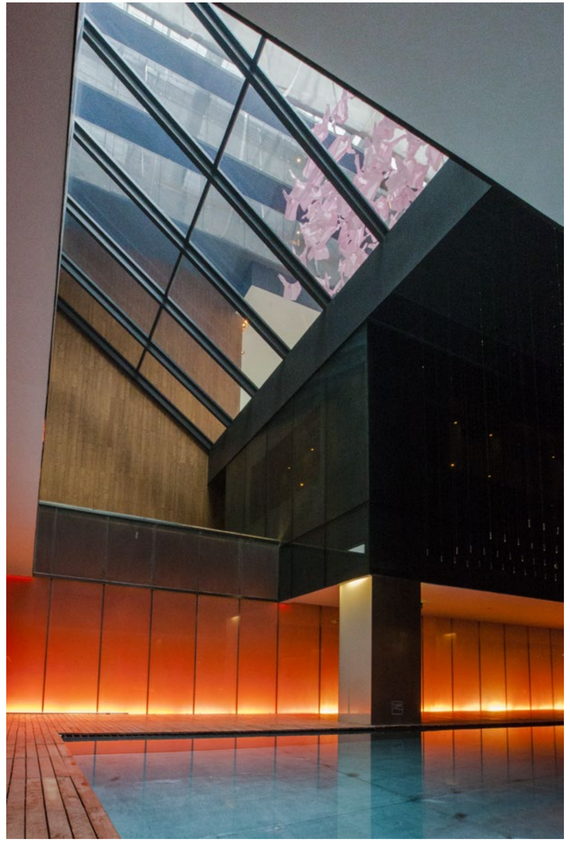
Interior Details

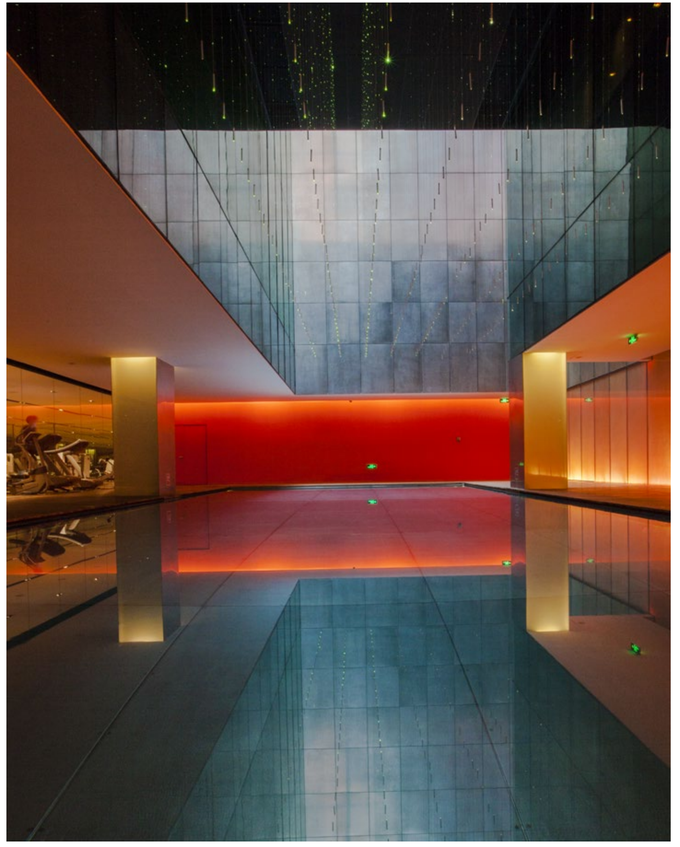


Interior Details (Central Bar)

Pool

For a truly relaxing experience, go for a swim in the 22-metre stainless steel swimming pool. With lights dramatically reflecting off the burnished metal walls, relax your mind in the uncluttered ambience.





Interior Details

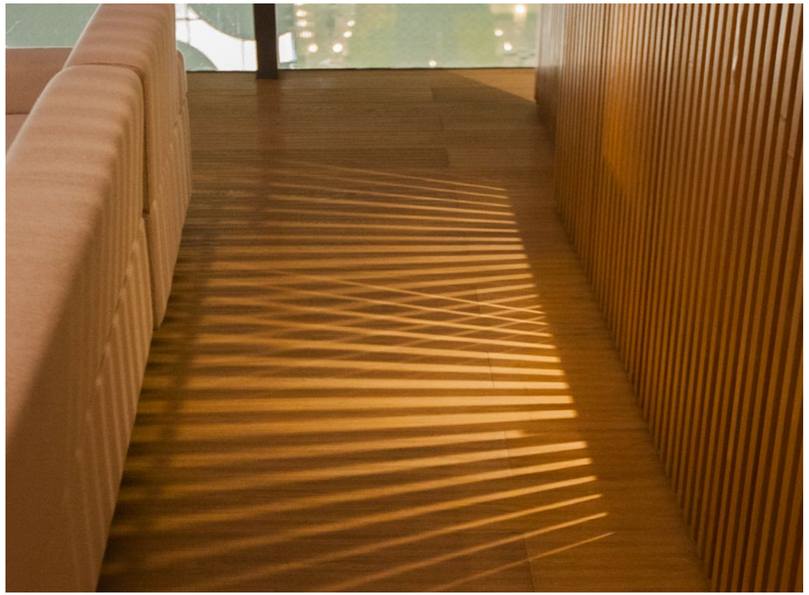
Interior Details

The Penthouse

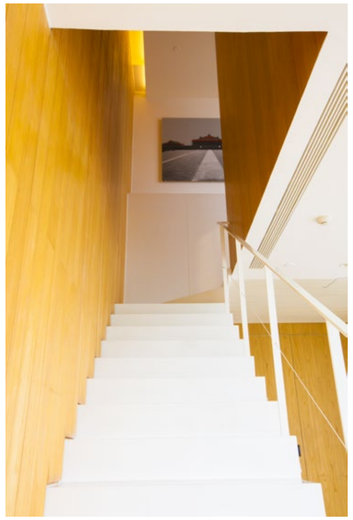
Cosy and contemporary, The Penthouse is ideal for entertaining such as intimate dinner and private parties. It has approximately 190sqm of space spread over two floors that spill out onto an exclusive 240sqm outdoor terrace. Catering, drinks or even flower arrangements.

Interior Details

Interior Details

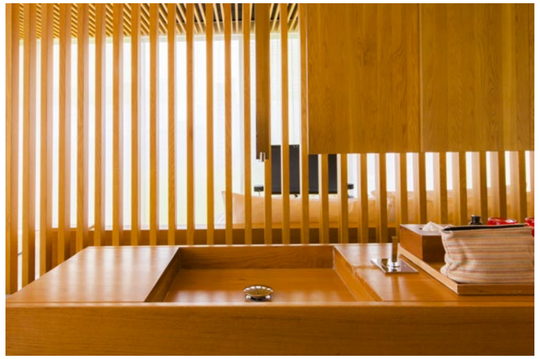


Interior Details



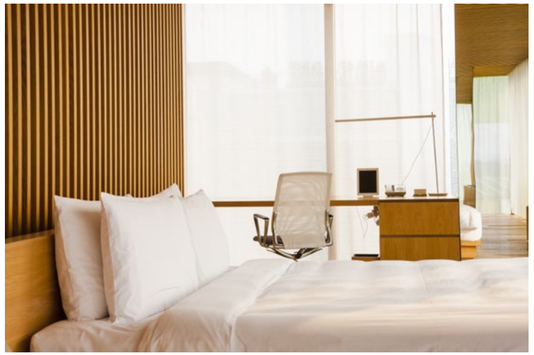
Interior Details (Stair to Second Floor)

Second Floor Space



Second Floor Space

Second Floor Space



Second Floor Space

Second Floor Space (Bath Area)

Photo Shoot by: Yuqi Wang
Photo Retouch by: Yuqi Wang
Production: The Opposite House